Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) is a neurodevelopmental condition characterized by persistent deficits in social communication and restricted, repetitive patterns of behavior, interests, and activities. The severity of symptoms can vary significantly, ranging from mild to severe. ASD is often diagnosed in early childhood, but it can also be identified later in life. The condition is caused by a combination of genetic and environmental factors. There is no cure for ASD, but early intervention and ongoing support can help individuals with ASD develop their skills and improve their quality of life. The DSM-5 provides a standardized framework for diagnosing ASD, which is used by healthcare professionals worldwide. The criteria for ASD are based on observable behaviors and symptoms, and they are designed to be applied consistently across different settings and cultures. The DSM-5 also includes information about the prevalence of ASD, its etiology, and the available interventions. This information is essential for healthcare professionals, researchers, and the general public to understand and support individuals with ASD.

THE FORT ST. GEORGE GAZETTE

No. 7-B] MADRAS, TUESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 17, 1942

REPORTS ON CROPS.

Statistics—Crop—Gingelly—1941-42—Interim report

Scarcely of two gallys are in progress in most districts and the production is reported to be rather heavy outside Tanjore and Tiruchirappalli where the crop is reported to have been affected by conditions related in December 1941.

1. The wholesale price of gingelly per hundredweight of 45 and 47 lb. equivalent, in 1,200 (1941) as reported from registered markets on the 2nd February 1942 was Rs. 1-1-3 in Tanjore, Rs. 4-12-8 in Coimbatore and Tiruchirappalli, Rs. 4-12-5 in Tanjore, Rs. 4-12-8 in Coimbatore, Rs. 4-6-8 in Tanjore, Rs. 4-5-6 in Ellore, Rs. 4-1-8 in Rajahmundry and Rs. 4-11-8 in Vizagapatnam and Visakhapatnam. When compared with the prices published in the last report, i.e., those which appeared on the 14th January 1942, these prices reveal a rise of approximately ten per cent in Tiruchirappalli and a fall of approximately eight per cent in Rajahmundry, none per cent in Coimbatore and Tanjore, those per cent in Coimbatore and one per cent in Vizagapatnam, the price remaining stationary in Visakhapatnam, Ellore, Rajah and Tanjore.

MADRAS CITY—JANUARY 1942.

A FALL OF FOUR POINTS

The cost of living index number for working classes in Madras City for January 1922 worked out to 127 which is lower by four points than the index for the previous month.

As compared with the previous study, the index has the food group reduced by nine points to 110 as a result of a fall in the prices of meat, vegetables, wheat, grains and poultry oil.

A run in the prison of Rethym, upper island, across was responsible for a rise of four points to 3.01 in May, index for the whole island.

The group is active in respect of learning and miscellaneous content study at 100 and 103 respectively.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The recent bus strike in the City of Madras and the strikes in industrial areas in this Province have revealed the ineffectiveness of the existing machinery to deal satisfactorily with industrial disputes. Under the Trade Disputes Act, 1929 (VII of 1929), the findings of a Court of Inquiry or Board of Conciliation are only recommendatory. Even if the parties to an industrial dispute agree to arbitration they can enforce the award of the arbitrator only by going to a civil court. With a view to prevent production of factories from being hampered by protracted strikes and lock-outs, it is considered necessary to introduce legislation providing among other things for compulsory arbitration.

The Bill does not apply to industries which are conducted or carried on by or under the control of the Central Government or by the Federal Railway Authority or by a railway company operating a Federal Railway. The provisions of the Bill will apply chiefly to major industries employing not less than 100 persons.

Conciliation will be appointed by the Government for each area as they think fit. It will be the duty of the conciliator to bring about a settlement of an industrial dispute within their jurisdiction. The Commissioner of Labour, Madras, will be the Chief Conciliator and his jurisdiction will extend to the whole of the Province. Every employer should submit to the Chief Conciliator a statement of the standing orders regulating the relations between him and his employees in respect of industrial matters. The Chief Conciliator will scrutinize these standing orders and if he finds that any standing order does not comply with the provisions of the laws and regulations applicable to the industry concerned, he can direct the employer to modify the standing order so as to bring it into accord with such laws and regulations.

There will be a Court of Arbitration for the Province, consisting of a Judge of the High Court of Madras nominated by the Government in consultation with the Chief Justice. Where conciliation has failed, either of the parties to an industrial dispute may submit the dispute to the Court of Arbitration. The Government have also the power to refer any industrial dispute to the Court of Arbitration in certain circumstances, irrespective of the number of persons employed in the industry concerned. Arbitration proceedings will be held by the Judge of the Court of Arbitration either sitting singly or in cases where the Government so direct with the aid of two assessors appointed by the Government. The assessors will be persons possessing special knowledge of the industry concerned or of labour conditions generally and may be either officials or non-officials. The decision of the Court of Arbitration on a reference made to it will be final and binding on all the parties concerned and cannot be called in question in any court of law.

A provision has been made in the Bill specifying when strikes and lock-outs will be illegal. Adequate penalties have been provided for illegal strikes and lock-outs.

The provisions of the Bill will not affect any of the provisions of the Trade Disputes Act, 1920. No conciliating or arbitrating proceeding can be held under the provisions of the Bill in respect of any matter or dispute when proceedings in respect thereof under the Trade Disputes Act, 1920, are pending.

Secretary to Government, Legal Department.

LEGAL DEPARTMENT. NOTIFICATION.

The following Statement of the reasons which have moved His Excellency the Governor to enact the Madras District Municipalities (Amendment) Act, 1943, in exercise of the powers of the Provincial Legislature assigned by him under the Proclamation issued under section 93 of the Government of India Act, 1935, is published for general information:—

Background.

Section 51 (1) of the Madras District Municipalities Act, 1930 (Madras Act V of 1930), gives jurisdiction to the district judge to decide disputes as to the disqualification of municipal councillors. Section 51 (3) of the Act provides that pending the decision of the district judge, the councillor shall be entitled to act as if he were not disqualified. The district judge can however act under the section, only on the application of the councillor concerned, or of any other councillor, or of the executive authority acting at the request of the council. It is not in the interest of the councillor concerned to make an application under the section and thereby run the risk of the district judge pronouncing an adverse decision. The municipal council is generally unwilling to request its executive authority to apply to the district judge, where the councillor belongs to the majority party. The other councillors are usually not prepared to take the initiative in the matter as view of the cost of the litigation which they will have to bear. Thus, the result is that a councillor often continues to retain his office, although there is no doubt whatever as to his disqualification. To prevent this, it is considered necessary that the Government should have power, as in section 54 (3) of the Madras City Municipal Act, 1919, to direct the executive authority of a municipal council, in proper cases, to apply to the District Judge for a decision under section 81 of the District Municipalities Act. A Bill amending the Madras District Municipalities Act, 1930, for this purpose was published for criticism and after considering the objections received, His Excellency the Governor has enacted the Madras District Municipalities (Amendment) Act, 1942.

(By order of His Excellency the Governor)

P. APPU NAIR,
Secretary to Government.
